Click, clack Moo.
Cows that type

Doreen Cronin 2000

Farmer Brown is dumbfounded when his cows discover an old typewriter in the barn and begin experimenting ("All day long he hears click, clack, moo. Click, clack, moo. Clickety clack moo"). Things really get out of hand when the cows began airing their grievances.

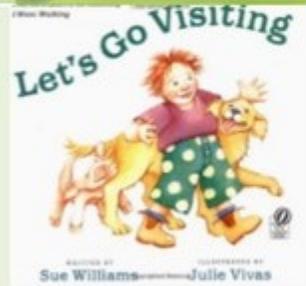

The Little Rabbit
who liked to say
Moo

Jonathan Allen
2015

The fun begins when Calf hears Rabbit out in the field mooing—and feels inspired to give a great big BAA. Why? Because he likes the sound! Before long, Lamb, Piglet, Baby Donkey, and all the other creatures on the farm realize they're not limited to their own language, but can enjoy experimenting with others.

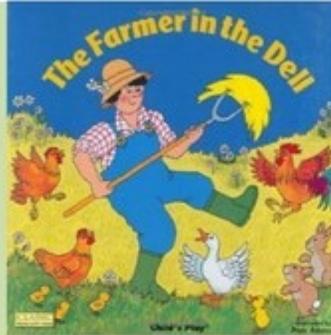

Let's go visiting

Sue Williams
Julie Vivas
2000

Let's go visiting and see who's ready to play--one foal, two calves, three kittens, four piglets, five ducklings, and six puppies! And once we've stomped in the mud with the piglets and swum in the lake with the ducklings, let's curl up with this adorable menagerie and take an afternoon nap.

The farmer in the Dell

Annie Kubler,
Pam Adams
Tina Freeman
2001 it is in board book format with holes in the pages. On the 'wife' page, there are pictures of many different women. Then, you turn the page, and you see which wife the farmer picks. This repeats all the way to the cheese...

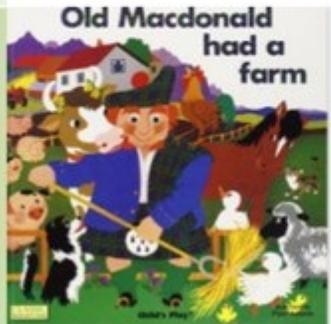

Oink?

Margie Palatini
Henry Cole
2006

Everyone on the farm thinks Thomas and Joseph are sloppy, dim-witted pigs. Thomas and Joseph are content, but the other animals are not. The hens want the pigs to paint their pen, the rabbit wants them to eat healthier food, and the duck wants them to dig a water hole and take a bath.

Old MacDonal d had a farm

M Twinn
Pam Adams
2007

In this famous series, magical die cutting draws the reader from page to colorful page. Soon, the story can be read-- or more probably sung

Great big enormous turnip

Alexei Tolstoy,
Helen Oxenbury
1968

An old man plants a little turnip that grows and grows, until it's so big that it takes everyone including the mouse to pull it.

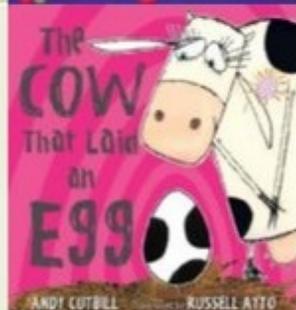

Barnyard Dance

Sandra Boynton
1993

Everybody sing along—because it's time to do-si-do in the barnyard with a high-spirited animal crew!

The cow that laid an egg

Andy Cutbill
2008

Marjorie is an insecure cow who wishes she had some special talent. She can't ride a bicycle or do handstands like the other cows. Then one morning (thanks to a bunch of scheming chickens and a paintbrush), Marjorie is astonished to discover something extraordinary: she's laid an egg!

Away went the farmer's hat

Jane Belk
Moncure
Dana Regan
2014

A farmer's hat blows away and is used by many animals on and around a farm until it once again comes to rest back on the farmer's head.

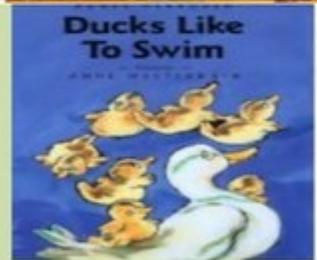

This is the farmer

Nancy Tafuri
1994

Each action propels the next, from a farmer kissing his wife, who then pats the dog, to a cat, a mouse, geese, and a donkey.

Ducks like to swim

Agnes Verboven
Anee
Westerduin
1997

An assortment of animals join a mother duck in making noises in an effort to bring on rain.

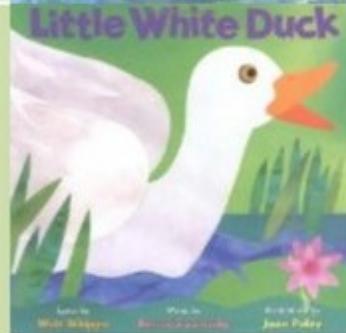

Pig in the Pond

Martin Waddell
2006

Pigs don't swim, or so it's said. But on one of the hottest days of the summer, the pig on Neligan's farm sits by the pond feeling envious of the ducks and the geese floating in the cool water. Finally, when she can endure the heat no longer—splash!—this sweltering pig takes a dive, throwing the entire farm into an uproar.

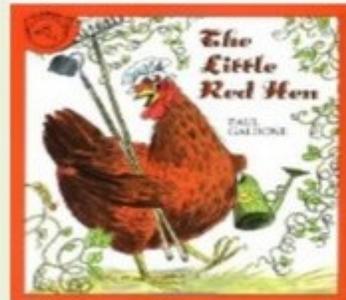

Little white duck

Bernard
Zaritzky
Joan Paley
2000

As a guitar-playing mouse narrates, a duck, a frog and a black bug are successively introduced as happily "doing what [they] oughter... in the water." Then along comes a little red snake who clears the room, so to speak, by scaring the duck and frog and eating the bug, leaving the song to conclude, "Boo! Hoo! Hoo!"

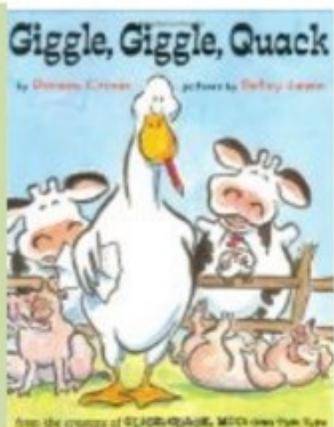

Little red Hen

Paul Galdone
1985

Little Red Hen is a time-tested cautionary tale about how we reap what we sow. When the hen asks a cat, dog, and mouse for help planting some wheat, she gets no takers: "Not!!" said the cat. "Not!!" said the dog. "Not!!" said the mouse." They won't water, cut, or grind the wheat . . . or help bake a cake with it,

Giggle, Giggle,
Quack

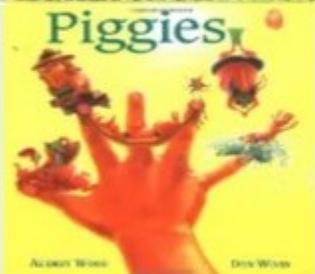

Doreen Cronin
Betsy Lewin
2002

Farmer Brown is going on vacation. He asks his brother, Bob, to take care of the animals. "But keep an eye on Duck. He's trouble."

Bob follows the instructions in Farmer Brown's notes exactly. He orders pizza with anchovies for the hens, bathes the pigs with bubble bath, and lets the cows choose a movie.

Is that giggling he hears?

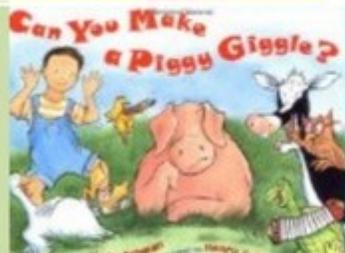

Piggies

Audre Wood
Don Wood
2000

In an imaginative play on the fingers-and-toes game, a child's hands introduce two fat, two smart, two tall, two silly, and two wee piggies who cavort on fingertips.

Can you make a piggy giggle?

Linda Ashman
Henry Cole
2002

What if you polka, flap and fiddle, waddle, yodel, stomp and riddle, tumble, grumble, twirl and wriggle? A chick might snicker, a calf might laugh, a duck might chuckle, a deer might cheer, a turtle might chortle, and a grackle might crackle. . . . But this piggy?

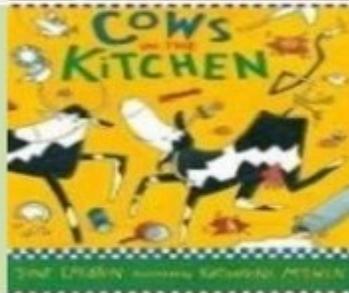

Big fat hen

Baker, Keith 2001

One, two, buckle my shoe. Three, four, shut the door. . . . Nine, ten, big fat hen!" "Baker uses an imaginative array of acrylic colors for his hens--greens, purples, and pinks to contrast with the warm, yellow straw background. There are lots of things to count, such as sticks, eggs, chicks, and hens. A fine choice for toddler story hours."

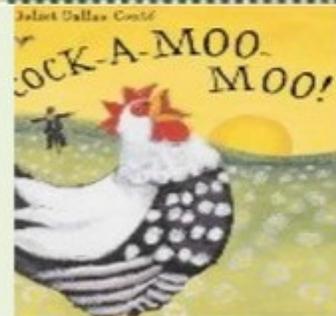

Cows in the kitchen

June Crebbin
Katherine
McEwen
1998

While Tom Farmer naps in the haystack, his animals take over the farmhouse. There are cows in the kitchen, ducks in the cupboard, hens on the hat stand, pigs in the pantry, and even sheep on the sofa! What will happen when Tom Farmer wakes up?

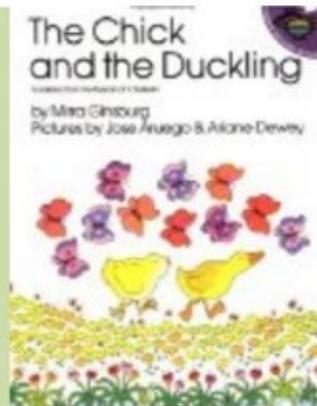

Cock-a-Moo-Moo

Juliet Dallas
Conte
Allison Bartlett

Poor cockerel has forgotten how to crow and all the animals are teasing him. But when the fox comes sniffing around, cockerel becomes a hero.

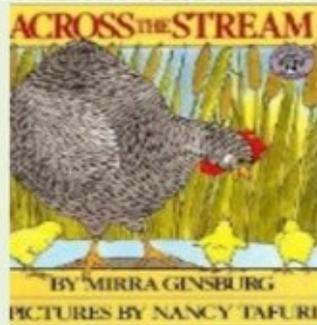

The chick and the duckling

Mirra Ginsburg
Jose Aruego
1988

As Duckling sets off to explore the world, Chick is close behind, mimicking each of his actions with a perky "Me too." But when Duckling decides to go for a swim, his friend is in for a surprise.

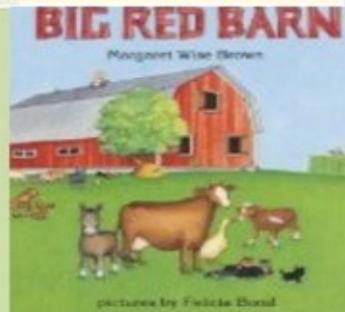

Across the stream

Mirra Ginsburg
Daniel Kharms
Nancy Tafuri
1982

This is a beautifully simple poem that tells the story of a mother hen and her chicks who escape a fox pup, with the help of a compassionate duck and her ducklings.

Big Sneeze

Brown Ruth 2002

The farmer is snoozing on the hay in his barn, surrounded by his dozy animals, when the fly buzzing about lands on his nose! Of course he sneezes, which sets off a long chain of consequences, until finally the terrified donkey panics!

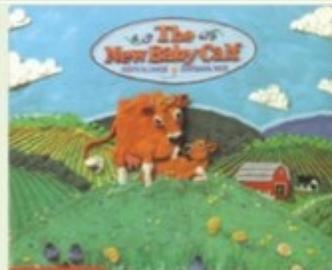

Very busy Spider

Carl, Eric 1995

Blown onto a farmyard fence, she starts to spin a web. The other animals ask if she wants to play, but in every case "the spider didn't answer. She was very busy spinning her web."

The new baby calf

Edith Newlin-
Chase
Barbara Reid
1990

Buttercup the cow had a new baby calf, a fine baby calf, a strong baby calf..." She licks him, feeds him, and encourages him until he learns to walk and run and play.

Hattie and the Fox

Mem Fox Patricia Mullins 1992

"I can see a nose and two eyes in the bushes!" cries Hattie.
But nobody is listening.
"I can see a nose, two eyes, two ears, two legs, and a body in the bushes!" cries Hattie.
But no one is paying a bit of attention.
Not goose. Not pig. Not horse. Not cow.
She tries again and again to warn her friends of danger, but nobody listens to Hattie.
That is, until they all realize that what Hattie is saying is true!

Wolf's chicken stew

Keiko Kasza 1987

The wolf loves to eat more than anything in the world and one day he has a terrible craving for chicken stew. He spots a chicken who seems just right, but then he thinks how much more stew there will be if he fattens her up before dining himself. So he goes home and begins to cook all kinds of scrumptious food for the chicken to eat. A big surprise is in store for the wolf when he finally visits Mrs. Chicken to collect his meal.

Amos's sweater

Janet Lunn Kim Lafave 2007

Amos the sheep is old and cold and tired of giving up all his wool. But despite his noisy objections, Aunt Hattie shears Amos once again and knits his wool into a brightly colored sweater for Uncle Henry. Poor Amos decides that this time he has had enough — and he sets out to reclaim what is rightfully his.

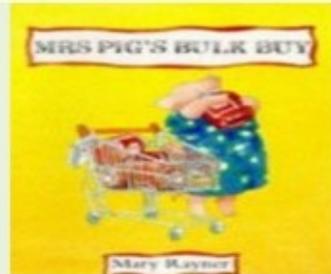

The piggy in the puddle

Charlotte Pomerantz
1989

See the piggy,/See the puddle,/See the muddy little puddle./See the piggy in the middle/Of the muddy little puddle." She dawdles and diddles. She waddles in the merry middle. She dives and paddles, wiggles and giggles and though she's making the rest of her family very angry, she's having a blast. What's her daddy, mommy and brother to do? No matter how hard they try to convince her to get out of the muddy middle of the puddle and wash up with soap, she always says "Nope!" Well as the old saying goes...If you can't beat 'em, join 'em. And that's just what each of them do..

A hat for Minerva Louise

Janet Morgan
Stoeke
1997

Minerva Louise, the irrepressible little hen, sets out on an adventure on a cold, snowy day, but she soon discovers that she needs to find something to keep her warm.

Farmer Duck

Martin Waddell
Helen Oxenbury
1996

Farmer Duck isn't your average duck. This duck cooks and cleans, tends the fields, and cares for the other animals on the farm—all because the owner of the farm is too lazy to do these things himself. But when Farmer Duck finally collapses from exhaustion, the farmyard animals come to the rescue with a simple but heroic plan.
